

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus and method for reclaiming uncured concrete are disclosed. The apparatus includes a hopper with water inlet for introducing water to the hopper. The outlet of the hopper is connected to a separator that is suitably connected to the hopper to receive material therefrom. A screen is positioned in the separator to separate material flowing therethrough. The separator has two outlets for removing material from the separator.